
Scientist warns against overselling climate change

Climate change forecasters should admit that they cannot predict how global warming will affect individual countries, a leading physicist has said.

By Louise Gray, Environment Correspondent

New Scientist (<http://www.newscientist.com/>)

© Copyright of Telegraph Media Group Limited 2010