EU Kids Online hosted a panel at the Internet Governance Forum 2014 on 'Researching children's rights in a global, digital age'.

Report: Final recommendations for policy. This brings together all EU Kids Online policy guidance and evidence-based recommendations in a single resource for policymakers. It outlines over 30 actions that children and young people, parents, educators, governments, awareness-raising and the media, as well as industry providers can take to make the internet a better and safer place for children.

Report: Meaning of online problematic situations: results of a qualitative investigation in nine European countries. See Press release: children are influenced by sensationalist media. The report reveals a diverse set of ways in which children try to cope with online risk of harm.

Further information

Our next report will be on children's mobile opportunities and risks. Then, the EU Kids Online network is soon to deliver its final report – in time for the Safer Internet Forum in Brussels in early November.
